News Briefs

Jared Fogle to Visit GTMO; SUBWAY Wants Your Inspiring Health Story

SUBWAY and MWR are pleased to announce that the national spokesman for SUBWAY, Jared Fogle, will be on island Tuesday, June 8.

In honor of the event, SUBWAY is hosting a contest searching for a person with the most inspiring health improvement story. The story does not need to be related to SUBWAY.

Send SUBWAY a story on how you reached your ideal weight. It can relate to losing or gaining weight or anything you have done to improve your fitness with or without SUBWAY.

Entries can be sent to subway@gtmo.net or dropped by the restaurant no later than Tuesday, June 1.

The winner will be announced on June 8 at the SUBWAY restaurant during the Jared Fogle visit. The winner will have the opportunity to have his or her photo taken with Jared and win one free meal per week (includes a Fresh Value Meal with the choice of a six-inch, footlong, wrap or a personal pizza) during your tour in GTMO up to one year.

Ice Cream Bar Opens at SUBWAY

We all screamed for ice cream, and the folks at SUBWAY heard the cry. The restaurant opened its new ice cream bar Friday, May 14, and patrons lined up for shakes, sundaes and cones.

"We are pleased to add a new section to our store," said Christian Gumbs, manager. "The residents here in GTMO have supported us since we have been here, and we will keep supporting them. We are working hand-in-hand with the NEX to bring any new product that we can to the island."

Up next, customers will get the chance to meet SUBWAY spokesperson Jared Fogle and enter a contest to win one free meal per week for a year.

Reptile Show at Windmill Beach

Want to get up close and personal with some of GTMO's amazing wildlife? Stop by Windmill Beach on Saturday, May 22 for the Reptile Show.

Peter Tolson, Toledo Zoo representative, says snakes are among many of the reptiles corralled for the event.

"There's five different kinds of snakes down here, and we'll get as wide a variety of those as we can," said Tolson. "But I can guarantee that we will have an iguana, and we'll have a boa, and we'll have some lizards. So we'll have a variety for the folks."

This week Tolson, along with local wildlife specialist Paul Schoenfeld, is searching the base and your backyards to collect reptiles to bring to the demonstration. The reptile demonstration is 2 p.m., Saturday, May 22 at 2 p.m. at Windmill Beach.

FFSC Offers Home Buying Class

Want to learn all the ins and outs of purchasing a new home? Sign up now for the Home Buying class at the Fleet and Family Support Center (FFSC). The class is 6 p.m., Wednesday, May 26 in the FFSC training room. Call 4141 to register.

Lava Lava Island Needs Volunteers

Crew Leaders and Station Leaders are still needed for the Lava Lava Island Vacation Bible School. The Base Chapel staff is urging any base resident who is interested in helping out at this year's vacation bible school to contact them at 2323.

If the chapel does not receive enough volunteers, they will be unable to host a vacation bible school for the GTMO children.

NKO Brings Exam Results to Sailors Faster

JO1 Jd Walter

Naval Personnel Development Command Public Affairs

Navy enlisted advancement exam results notification has come a long way, from carbon copy snail mail notification to electronic profiles being posted online. Today, thanks to the Revolution in Navy Training, exam profiles are being posted to Navy Knowledge Online (NKO). Not only are Sailors now able to view their current profiles, but they are also able to track their profile history through the Navy's personnel development portal.

The Naval Education and Training Professional Development and Technology Center (NETPDTC) in Pensacola, Fla., is responsible for writing, scoring and returning results to the biannual exam cycles. In the beginning, 1949 to be exact, exam results were mailed to Sailors. Later, results were posted to the Bureau of Naval Personnel (now Naval Personnel Command) Web site. Today, with results being accessible through NKO, Sailors receive speedier response times and access to results.

"I've seen a lot of changes over the past few years," said Darlene Barrow, supervisory math statistician for the Enlisted Advancement Examination Statistical Analysis Section. "And they all are benefiting Sailors and their ability to get back exam results and advancement information faster."

According to NETPDTC's Examination Administration Branch Head, Jim Hawthorne, as little as three years ago the advancement notification process would take 10 weeks or more. Both technology and the improved processes from delivery to tabulating advancement exams have enabled NETPDTC to get results back to Sailors faster than ever before. But not only are Sailors getting faster access to results, they are now able to track previous results, going back four cycles.

Sailors' command leadership will continue to have access to the E4/5/6 advancement exam results on BUPERS Online 48 hours before the results are available to individual Sailors on NKO.

To access exam results via NKO, log on at www.nko.navy.mil and go to the "My Announcements" channel, then click on the exam profile sheet link, which will take the Sailor directly to his or her advancement exam profile sheet. Sailors can also access individual advancement exam profile sheets through the advancement exam profile sheet link on the "My Career" page.

U.S. Army Soldier Show Set to Take “The Heart of a Soldier” to GTMO

By Tim Hipps

USACFSC Public Affairs

Communication between deployed Soldiers and their loved ones is the driving force behind “The Heart of a Soldier,” theme of the 2004 U.S. Army Soldier Show.

Although every edition of the Army Soldier Show has a theme, few have woven a storyline throughout quite like this year’s emotional rendition, said Soldier Show director Victor Hurtado.

From letters to cellular telephone calls to e-mails, this is a song-and-dance display of how Soldiers touch base with home from the Global War on Terrorism – communications from the front lines and beyond.

The show touches on the realities of mothers deployed without children, fathers who’ve yet to see their kids, couples who’ve put marriage on hold, brothers who long to hug their sisters and vice versa, and mothers and fathers, too.

Prepare to have your heartstrings tested, Hurtado warns. The show uses a lot of telepathic energy that exists between Soldiers and their loved ones experiencing sleepless nights at home, pondering if and when their hero will return. Songs originate from both sides of the issue, focusing on the significance one life can project upon so many.

“Part of what makes the show is the emotional impact of it,” Hurtado said. “Parts are really happy, but there are going to be some emotions, definitely.”

Hurtado said military members and families can easily relate to the plot of this year’s show while the general public should be entertained and educated.

“I think it’s important to humanize our Soldiers to the American public, and what it takes to fight for America,” said Hurtado, who performed in the Army Soldier Show while on active duty from 1986 through 1989. “I don’t know that my mentality would’ve been the same if I hadn’t been a Soldier myself.”

Country, rock, pop, gospel, rhythm and blues, Latin and “ ’80s’ hair-band rock,” as Hurtado calls it, are intertwined throughout the show, including the works of Prince, ABBA and Outkast. Hurtado said the show “moves really quickly” and won’t exceed 90 minutes.

The show will play Guantanamo Bay, 9 p.m., June 9 and 7 p.m., June 10 at the Downtown Lyceum.

Former W.T. Sampson Student Receives Music Award

Hampden Sydney College sophomore, and W.T. Sampson High School class of 2002 graduate, Christian Basel received the C.T. Crawley Music Award at the college’s convocation in April.

Established in 1948 and given in memory of Camilla Virginia Taylor Crawley, the award is given to an underclassman who has significantly contributed to the music program and shows the most promise as a musician.

Basel is the son of GTMO residents Craig and Kathy Basel, who both say they are very proud of their son’s accomplishment.

Jamaican Independence Day Celebration

Committee members are in full planning mode, hoping to bring GTMO a memorable Jamaican Independence Day celebration.

The main celebration has been scheduled for August 2 at Phillips Park, but committee representative Teresa Thompson says plans are in the works for the event to span the entire weekend and include many sport activities like runs/walks and soccer. Thompson also added that the committee plans to bring in a great band from Jamaica.

For those wanting to show support of the event, Jamaican Independence Day T-shirts are being sold in the NEX Atrium every Saturday and Sunday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Also keep an eye open for upcoming bake sales and car washes. All proceeds from these fundraisers benefit the celebration planning.

Growing Pains: Air Terminal Undergoing Renovations

By Lt. Cmdr. Paul Devereux
Air Operations Department

Please pardon the mess while we make things better for you! The Air Mobility Command (AMC) Terminal in the large hangar on Leeward (AV 600) is undergoing renovation. All workspaces in the hangar have been temporarily moved to the west side, including the terminal. This should not adversely affect operations.

The renovation is a two-phase process. Phase I is expected to take roughly two years to complete and includes renovation of the eastside spaces and the central hangar bay. Upon completion of Phase I our improved AMC Terminal will include:

- ♦ A more comfortable environment (central air conditioning)
- ♦ Greater safety due to improved Anti-Terrorism/Force Protection fixtures
- ♦ Greater access for passengers to restrooms, etc., without compromising the secure environment
- ♦ A conference room that will include computers and projection screens.
- ♦ An Internet Café, enabling passengers to check and update connecting travel arrangements
- ♦ Modern office spaces for current tenants and future customers
- ♦ Refined arrival process and expedited verification process

The Air Operations Department hopes there will be no additional inconvenience to passengers utilizing the temporary terminal, and will work hard to correct any problems. If you have questions or concerns regarding travel, or any AMC flight, call 6408 or 6204.

Please note: Advanced booking of paid travel, either official or leisure, is not handled by the Air Terminal, but by the Travel Office at 4850.

Luis Valdez of Cross Remediation Inc., moves a support beam as part of the refurbishing effort in the Leeward hangar.

Words of Inspiration

According to an article in Psychology Today, by the time a child reaches the age of 18, the concept of "No, you can't!" has been reinforced 187,000 times, whereas the concept of "Yes, you can!" has been reinforced only about 25 - 30 times.

People who have worked and studied extremely hard to learn their craft and become successful were motivated by someone (usually at a young age) to learn and grow every day. They were inclined to read inspirational books, practice positive affirmations, set goals and formulate plans to achieve them, and remind themselves to never get discouraged.

Sometimes all it takes is a pat on the back, a kind word or some sound advice to help people find their way in life and achieve their dreams. Below are some quotes that might perhaps inspire you, the W.T. Sampson Class of 2004, to be the best you can be and let nothing hold you back as you charge full-force into the rest of your life.

- "Your schooling may be over, but remember that your education still continues." Author Unknown
- "Don't live down to expectations. Go out there and do something remarkable." Wendy Wasserstein, author
- "Always be a first-rate version of yourself, instead of a second-rate version of somebody else." Judy Garland, actress
- "Be who you are and say what you feel, because those who mind don't matter and those who matter don't mind." Dr. Seuss, author
- "Do not follow where the path may lead. Go, instead, where there is no path and leave a trail." Ralph Waldo Emerson, poet
- "The important thing is not to stop questioning." Albert Einstein, scientist
- "The best helping hand that you will ever receive is the one at the end of your own arm." Fred Dehner
- "If opportunity doesn't knock, build a door." Milton Berle, comedian
- "I don't know the key to success, but the key to failure is trying to please everybody." Bill Cosby, actor

Navy Nurse Corps Celebrates 96 Years

By Ellen Maurer

Bureau of Medicine and Surgery Public Affairs

Nearly 5,000 active-duty and Reservist Navy nurses celebrated the Nurse Corps' 96th anniversary, May 13.

This anniversary marks a time of change within Naval Medicine as it realigns resources—both personnel and equipment—to better support Sailors and Marines. Naval Medicine is becoming more mobile, creating easily deployable fleet hospitals, and ensuring field health care providers are expertly trained in combat care and preventive medicine.

"First and foremost, readiness is number one to meet Naval Medicine's primary mission of Force Health Protection," said Rear Adm. Nancy Lescavage, director of the Navy Nurse Corps. "To do this, we are placing the right nurses in the right specialties, at the right time in the right positions, to meet the mission in all health care environments."

Today's Navy nurses serve in combat zones, caring for U.S. military members as well as civilians and enemy prisoners of war. Since the terrorist attacks of Sept. 11, 2001, nearly 900 Navy nurses have deployed in support of Operations Noble Eagle, Enduring Freedom and Iraqi Freedom. More than 30 nurses deployed more than once, staffing fleet hospitals, ships and overseas medical treatment facilities.

"The Navy Nurse Corps has been consistently dynamic in this ever-changing environment," added Lescavage. "Nurse Corps officers have become very versatile as dynamic leaders, innovative change agents and clinical experts in all settings...the Navy Nurse Corps is simply awesome now and into the future."

New DoD Education Web Site Online

The new Department of Defense web site designed to assist military children, their parents, educators, and military commanders ease education transitions is now available.

Although some parts of the site are still in development, www.militarystudent.org has information and resources applicable to the 1.5 million children in both civilian and DoD-run schools. For military children ages 6 to 12, the site has chat rooms and provides information on how to meet new friends, how to prepare for a move, and information on deployment and war.

The teen section also has a chat room and information on moving, as well as checklists of information needed from the school they are leaving and for their new school and information on employment, baby-sitting, managing money, graduation tips, and teen sponsorship.

The parents' section has a link to the DoD Educational Opportunities Directorate's "Guide to the Military Child During Deployment and Reunion" and information on preparing children for Permanent Change of Station moves and how to get involved in their children's schools. Special needs families can link directly to the DoD special needs web site, www.efmconnections.org, an online resource with information about legal, financial, medical, and other issues.

Military leaders can find information about working with local schools and how deployment and other events affect military children. Educators' resources include a section of "promising practices" in public schools and a guide to helping children during deployment. The designers of the web site want to encourage users of the site to explore it and send suggestions for additional information that would be useful or other improvements.
